

National Year of Reading – 60” filler transcript

- Bill Bailey: A man walks into a bar and says...
- Sean Lock: ...my name is...
- Ben Miller: ...Ishmail, some years ago...
- Jo Brand: ...I started calling myself ‘Ginger’...
- Lenny Henry: ...Peter...
- Ronnie Corbett : ...Sherlock...
- Meera Syal: ...Rosemary...
- Ben Miller: ...Emmanuelle...
- Sean Lock: ...the Real Slim Shady...
- Lee Mack: ...rumoured to be the new signing for West...
- Jon Culshaw: ...minster and the Thames...
- Jo Brand: ...and I just love to ride horses...
- Jon Culshaw: ...anyway, it was about 11 o’clock in the morning...
- Ronnie Corbett: ...clouds were gathering across the Moor...
- Omid Djalili: ...it was the day my grandmother exploded...
- Jenny Éclair: ...hum, very messy, but, when...
- Meera Syal: ...mixed with half a pound of butter you get the most delightful creamy sauce...
- Jon Culshaw: ...which when eaten as part of a calorie controlled diet means....
- Jo Caulfield: ...nothing could be more becoming to your complexion ...
- Lee Mack: ...hang on a minute, let’s get...
- Ben Miller: ...back to the main plot...
- Bill Bailey: ...and that man Rodriguez who slithered into the bar with a...
- Jenny Éclair: ...man who could cry milk...
- Omid Djalili: ...two bikini-cladded lovelies...
- Vic Reeves: ...eleven piglets...
- Lenny Henry: ...a boy who never grew up....
- Francesca Martinez: ...the world tiddlywinks champion...
- Geri Halliwell: ...a pair of star-crossed lovers...
- Bill Bailey: ...and the barman says, what’s this? A joke?
- Geri Halliwell: tutts and sighs
- Voice Over: Reading. Anything. Anytime. Anywhere.